

RISC™ Report - Summary

RISC™ Index

Neighborhood Scores

The Rental Income Stability Composite (RISC™) index is a composite index that reflects the relative stability of a property as it relates to factors that influence the non-equity income generation (current income rather than capital gain) of residential real estate investment property. The RISC index is computed over two data samples (MSA and USA) to allow property comparisons at the MSA (Metropolitan Statistical Area) and USA (national) levels, respectively. The RISC index ranges from 0 to 100, with higher scores reflecting greater rental income stability.

Income Stability Spectrum

Income Stability reflects the likelihood of an event that will disrupt the rental income generation of a residential real estate investment property. A lower score indicates lower income stability and thus property location characteristics more likely to lead to interruption in rental income. Alternatively, higher scores reflect higher stability and a decreased potential for income disruption.

Appendix

The Rental Income Stability Composite (RISC™) score is a composite index incorporating a wide array of information across multiple data sectors. This data has demonstrated a significant influence on historical investment performance. Housing, economic, occupancy characteristics, social characteristics, and other neighborhood-level data are utilized in the formulation of this rental income-focused Index. Hence, the RISC™ score is deemed a work of art.
